

President and CEO-Elect, Mayo Clinic Vice President and CEO, Mayo Clinic in Florida

Gianrico Farrugia, M.D., is vice president of Mayo Clinic, a not-for-profit, academic health system that has more than 68,000 staff, earns $12 billion in annual revenue and cares for more than 1 million people each year from all 50 states and more than 140 countries. He is also chief executive officer (CEO) of Mayo Clinic in Florida, the number one hospital in the state as ranked by U.S. News & World Report.

Dr. Farrugia has overseen Mayo Clinic's Florida operations since 2015. Under his leadership, Mayo Clinic in Florida has established itself as the destination medical center for the Southeast. Prior to serving as CEO, Dr. Farrugia was director, Center for Individualized Medicine bringing genomics into routine clinical care, and cofounder of the Center for Innovation at Mayo Clinic. He is a member of the Mayo Clinic Board of Trustees and Governors and is a Professor of Medicine and Physiology with faculty privileges in biomedical engineering at Mayo Clinic Graduate School. During the course of his career, Dr. Farrugia has spent 30 years as a Mayo physician jointly appointed in the Division of Gastroenterology and Hepatology, Department of Internal Medicine and the Department of Physiology and Biomedical Engineering at Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota.

Dr. Farrugia completed his undergraduate training at St. Aloysius College and earned his medical degree from the University of Malta Medical School.

In addition to his role as CEO of Mayo Clinic in Florida, Dr. Farrugia is president of the American Neurogastroenterology and Motility Society. He is the co-author of Think Big, Start Small, Move Fast: A Blueprint for Transformation from the Mayo Clinic Center for Innovation, a book highlighting the need for change in the delivery of health care, and has published more than 250 articles on genomics and the treatment of disorders of gastrointestinal motility.